40 YEARS AGO

"What matter if I stand alone?
I wait with you for the coming years.
My heart shall rest where it has been,
And garner up the fruit of tears."

Christmas had come and gone, 40 years ago, this week, and it had been a merry one for some, and, perhaps, for others where sickness or death had prevailed.
But, generally, in Jeffersontown, Buechel, St. Matthews, Middleton, Okolona, Eastwood, Worthington, Valley Station, and other towns and villages in this county, "the true spirit" had been preserved, along with the feasting and merrymaking.

The year 1910 was nearing an end, and the next thing to be considered was how many "income" would be drawn into the church, how many, "who ought to" would "swear off" on New Year's Day.

"Uncle Tubs of Truck Patch" thought that it was "a good habit to swear off the first of the year even if the swearing off was only a habit." It is at least, he thought, showed "there was no ill feeling—that every man should check up on his shortcomings."
"The Chinese do it each year," he observed. "They have a big time New Year, pay all their debts, then shake hands with themselves."

There had been a number of cooly fires in the country during the year and the fire marshal had been checking up on suspicious ones. A big ad in The Jeffersonian advised insurance protection. "There had been floods and high winds. The latter had done damage and it was advised that "windstorms never come by appointment."

The stock of merchandise and furniture of the store of Frederick A. Lauman, Jeffersontown, had been sold by F. H. Courtney at trustee's sale.

The farm of W. F. Shake, who had decided "to go West," had been sold by E. R. Snow. It was located on a county road leading from Bardstown Road to Preston Street Road.
It had been definitely decided by writers on the subject that Kentucky's county schools (as in Illinois and other nearby states) should be "as attractive and as good as city schools." J. B. Mc-Ferson was saying so in The Jeffersonian. Then he was asking for "action." He and others had offered money to start the ball rolling toward "modern schools."
The Blue Rock Hotel at Fishers-ville was still advertising "Best mineral water in the state" in The Jeffersonian. There had been pleasant round-uns there during the holiday season with assurance of "good table and first-class service."

The Jeffersonian was advocating "good roads." Such a movement was getting under way.
There had been "some improvement" in the condition of the main highways, there could be "more."
"Old Man Winter" had been "officially ushered in" on Friday, December 22, 1910, "the shortest day in the year."

50 YEARS AGO

Thirty years ago, this week, the wool growers were organizing, the news report said, "to manufacture blankets." The matter was discussed on pages 10 and 11 of The Jeffersonian. There had been the usual Christmas entretains, parties. Grandmas told about her "old-time Christmas" as well as Grandpa. She, at 6, got a China-headed doll with "swartest legs" a calico cut and a set of pewter dishes. Also, she received "a red apple" and "had fun with her brother and sisters." Also, she hung up her stockings and Santa had "filled it."

The Jeffersonian, issued on December 30, 1920, was "awaiting the new year."

"Blind Out Your Present Extravagance" the Jefferson County Bank advised in an ad. "Stop Wasting Your Money Now," it added.

S. T. Taylor was "The Twentieth Century Auctioneer" at Peterson Valley, his ad read.
There were two through trains daily to St. Louis, the Southern Railway announced. There had been many family reunions.
"Well housed farms will lay more eggs" the farm agent advised.
P. K. Miller was "out for business every day in the year—in insurance," his ad read.
It was expected to be the little holiday proclaiming the year 1921.

Ex-Service Men May Enlist And Keep Grade

Under current policies, ex-service men are able to enlist in the United States Air Force, Army, Navy, Marines, Coast Guard, or any of their reserve components. This applies equally to former members of the Air or Ground National Guard.
Personnel with prior military service will not be questioned as to physical and mental examinations for enlistment in the Air Force Reserve.
It is also announced that present Air Force enlisted reservists may apply for extended active service in the reserve grade currently held for a period of 21 months.
All interested ex-service men and reservists are asked to contact the Air Reserve Liaison Office, 423 South Fifth Street, Louisville, Wabash 553.

THE QUEEN ELIZABETH SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS OF BEECHLAND
CHURCH had its regular class meeting on Sunday, December 24.
The class was held at the home of Mrs. Martin Rosenberg Tuesday evening, December 19. The ladies of the class were present, Mrs.
Martin Rosenberg, Mrs. W. F. Porter,
Mrs. Sue Hardaway, and Mrs.
Alice Bunger.

Red Rosenberg left recently for Ford Myers to spend the holidays with a crowd of the neighbors from Valley, Mr. Beall and family, Mr. F. E. Schiele and family, Mr. Jimmie Doolittle and family, and Major Layman.
We wish all pleasant and happy holidays.

THE NIGHT THE P-T-A OF VAL-LEY STATION, KY., DECIDED TO HAVE ITS CHRISTMAS PARTY, December 15, was called off on account of the weather and the electricity was out for several hours.

We wish to express to the staff and the Jeffersonian and the remains "A Happy New Year."

BARDSTOWN ROAD NEWS
By Mrs. Fielden Frederick
Fairview Christian Church,
after services Sunday evening, enjoyed a Christmas entertainment, with recitations, songs, Christmas trees, and Santa Claus.
A large crowd of guests were present. Gifts were given to each.
Several "Old World" Christmas holidays were shown in the homes before the holidays by different members of classes.
The "Night of the Nativity Scene" is shown in front of the church building during the yuletide.

Mrs. Orville Stivers entertained with a Christmas dinner on Monday, December 18, at her home, 1000 S. 10th St., with Mrs. Robert Porter, of Lexington, Mr. and Mrs. Fielden
Frederick, and Mrs. Hugh Standford.

Mrs. and Mrs. Henry Lentz, Crawfordsville, Ind., were at supper on Sunday evening for Bro. and Mrs. Robert Porter, and Mrs. and Mrs. Roy Schaffert and Doris Lee.

Mrs. and Mrs. Wilfred Kaiser entertained with a family dinner on Christmas Day at their home on Crawford Avenue.

Mrs. and Mrs. Fielden Frederick were guests at dinner at home Thursday evening of Mr. and Mrs. William Norris at their home, "Old World," 1000 S. 10th St., Taylorville Road. The house was decorated in Christmas green and red. The first floor kitchen and living room to the fireplace lent a charm to the holiday season.

Mrs. Byron Standford has returned home after two weeks spent at the Baptist Hospital, where she underwent a major operation. Her health is much improved and we are glad to report that Mrs. and Mrs. Otis Stivers entertained with a Christmas dinner on Monday for the immediate members of their family.

Mrs. and Mrs. Thomas Thomas spent several of the Christmas holidays with relatives in Nelson and Anderson, Mo. They have been built in Buechel Terrace Addition in the last two years. They have put up as soon as the weather permitted.

Mrs. and Mrs. Roy Blodgett entertained with a family Christmas dinner Monday at their home on Bardstown Road and Watterton Trail.

The Buechel Church of Christ enjoyed carol singing in the basement of the church on Saturday evening, Bro. and Mrs.
J. T. Glenn, Mrs. Harding McCall, and Mrs. Hester, led the singing, as a quartet.

Mrs. William Reed gave several interesting recitations which were highly appreciated.

MOVED TO WEST WIND ROAD
Mr. and Mrs. George R. Miller and daughter, Mary Lee, moved this week from Norton to West Wind Road, in Indian Hills.

A Christmas party for all the members of Bethany Methodist Church will be given on Friday evening, December 29, at 7:30 p.m.
The young people of the church will sponsor the party. Refreshments will be served. All are

Washington News

By Mrs. T. H. Parrell

Many thanks to all the friends who remembered me with cards at this Christmas time. May the new year be the best ever and our nation learn the way of peace.

Rev. M. B. May and wife were called to Ashland, Ohio last Friday by the death of his brother, Robert Nantz. They will go to Niagara Falls for the burial and return Tuesday or Wednesday.

The Christmas party was held at the Methodist Church, Thursday night. A brief program of songs and recitations by the clases of Mrs. Allen Gailbreath and Miss Joy Fisher; the story of the first Christmas by Mrs. W. F.
Porter, motion pictures, Santa Claus, punch and cake, the friendly social exchange of gifts, with candy, fruit and nuts for all given by the Men's Class, J.
E. Fisher, teacher, was enjoyed by old and young.

The Jolly Club met last week with Mrs. "Butch" Blackburn.
The name of the "Silent Night" was revealed and gifts exchanged.

Mrs. Royce Swearingen is at home after a week's stay at the hospital and is convalescing nicely.

Mrs. and Mrs. E. R. McEhee held a family reunion on Monday, December 18, at their home.

Kentucky Bridges

Kentucky has received nationwide attention for some of its bridges. For instance, the Capitol Bridge across the Kentucky River at Frankfort was awarded the American Institute of Steel Construction Class B prize in 1938 as the most beautiful structure in this price range. The Lexington-Richmond road is the tallest highway bridge east of the Mississippi River. In Butler and Edmonson Counties are bridges over the Green River containing the second longest span in the world. The country.
The Tyrone Bridge between Lawrenceburg and Vernon is unusual for being shaped in the form of an "S" curve. It was the highest bridge in the state at the time of its construction in 1925.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen and son, Mr. James L. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Alcorn, and Mr. and Mrs. Dolan Ryan, enjoyed their Christmas Eve dinner with their parents, E. L. Ryan, Sr.

Rev. and Mrs. Paul Horner and son, Meridian, Miss, spent the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Marion Porter.

Mrs. and Mrs. Barney Spurr and girls were with her son, P. A. Parrish, and wife and grandson, Allen and wife. Other guests during the holidays were Mrs. Martha Parrish and Dave Smith.

Miss Lee May, a student at Western, will be at home with her parents, Rev. M. B. May and Ring out the old, ring in the new. But before the New Year gets underway, we'd like to extend our wishes for the happiest you've ever known.

One of the best things the New Year could bring is a sense of security. Like most good things security is built on a plan which looks toward the future. You'll find that a savings and checking account can help give you this sense of security.

FORWARD WITH FAITH FOR 1951

As the old year begins to die away into the past, men begin to look inquiringly into the future. Most of us are curious to know what is in store for us. Thus it is that we often are not out of one period of difficulty before we start looking for more trouble.

It is interesting, and sometimes profitable, to do a bit of star gazing occasionally to speculate on future prospects. But it is even better to know, that whatever we surmise, it could be wrong.

Often while indulging in a lot of wishful thinking about the future folk fail to appreciate the providential blessing of not knowing what the oncoming days will bring. People sometimes appear to be more concerned about the future than with the present. While worrying about what is to come, we often ignore what is already here and fail to do anything about it.

The old saying about not "crossing the bridge" until one reaches it is good philosophy. To live by it saves one a lot of worry and a realization of the fact that one is relieved of much responsibility, marching toward the future with "sealed orders."

So, with only a glance backward, let us face the future with faith, as the new year dawns to illuminate our path and to reveal the new unknown.

American soldiers who served in the past wars are no more belligerent than any of the rest of us. But we have noticed that they are the strongest exponents of a preparedness program. We haven't talked to any of that group who are pacifists or who believe that a program of pacifism and nonpreparedness is desirable for this country, or that Communism should be appeased. While we have never started a war—never been ready for one—we never fail to get into them.

A fellow editor preached a good sermonette recently when he wrote: If the devil doesn't get you before you die he will never get you afterwards.

A certain man was adding up his bills the other day, and made this remark to his wife: "It's a good thing we saved up some money during the depression or we'd never be able to get through this period of prosperity."

There is a bit of pathos in the recent musings of a photographer. He observed as concerns family group pictures: I very seldom have the opportunity to take such groups. In the first place, there are not many families left. And, in the second place, he didn't care to take pictures at 3 o'clock in the morning, when the family all happen to be together at one time for a few hours.

A Kansas widow called on the editor of her local paper last week and blessed him out in a vigorous fashion, as the members of her sex sometimes can, for stating in the obituary of her deceased husband that he "had gone to a happier home."

They tell us: Federal operations in the fields of publicity, public relations and dissemination of intelligence cost the taxpayers about $105,000,000 a year.

Sparks and Sundries

By Samuel H. Stuart

The end of 1950 marks the twentieth century. It is an appropriate time to look back over the most hectic 50 years in human history, and evaluate of its striking events in an effort to see how to chart our course as a nation for the future of the century.

Inventive progress, topped by the perfection of the automobile, radio, airplane, and television, has led the list in accomplishments of the period. Only inferior to this was medical progress in curing disease through antibiotics, radium, X-ray therapy, by use of insulin, and, cortisone, and other hormones, and by radical surgery. To these may be added the agricultural process whereby 17 people on farms now feed themselves plus some 83 non-producers, whereas it took 32 farmers to maintain 100 of the population in the "good old times."

These were positive advances in human affairs, improving the lot of man—his comfort, his knowledge, his health, and his productive capacity.

In other respects the half-century has shown declines in literature, in religion, in morality, both public and private and in our natural wealth due to wars and exploitation. Above all, it has seen the two worst wars of history and the worst depression. Politics and statesmanship have sunk to new lows in the 50-year epoch and the world seems poised on the brink of a new descent into the hades of war.

Woman's Suffrage and Prohibition, both expected to produce the millennium by their enactment, have proved ineffective—man is still the problem child of the universe.

As a nation, our greatest mistake appears to have been the forsaking of our national policy of non-entanglement in foreign affairs. By calling the Portsmouth Conference in 1905, which decided peace between Japan and Russia, we have made the first step away from our traditional non-interventionism. Woodrow Wilson greatly expanded the world politics-dabbling of the nation by involving us in the first World War in defiance of Congress and a popular mandate, Franklin D.

Roosevelt followed up with another intervention in the affairs of Europe, while we were already threatened by the Japan we had literally hatched from the shell of isolationism and then answered by our activities in mediating her war with czarist Russia and by trying to limit her role in Asia by the misguided Stimson policy. Truman has carried on with the mistaken course of trying to cut the pattern of world history to our specifications. Terrible things are in store for America unless we forsake the senseless idealism of trying to run the whole world according to our liking. The upset in Korea is but a forerunner of further disaster if we persist in a course of what Walter Lippman calls "inflated globalism."

"ENOUGH!" Shall man with man forever strive, And fill Hate's altar full with blood, Till in the awful, crimsoned tide The world's engulfed, as by a flood?

If men once learned to say, "Enough!" The world might be from carnage freed; For Hate, the monster-sire of War, Is born of all-consuming greed.

FAMOUS BASKETBALL TOO
Chances are another word will have to be added to the poem that sings the praises of Kentucky's lovely women and rapid horses. The word—basketball. We always expect the University of Kentucky with its superb basketball coach, Adolph Rupp, to come up with a superior team. And, although early-season performances have followed the Big Blue the shivers, the raggedness of the Wildcats' hoopers suddenly has turned into a most performance, and Lexington partisans are breathing easier.

The turning point came when teacher met student—when U. of K. tangled with Phog Allen's Jayhawkers, who, until they visited the Bluegrass were regarded as members of perhaps one of the best teams in the nation.

Student Rupp, who played for Allen, gave the old master a lesson in basketball. He was in the top ten in the early-season polling of the nation, zoomed right to the top. There is, for the first time this season, real reason and sound logic behind the Wildcats' position of eminence.

Peck Hickman's University of Louisville teams, which always have a surprise for the fans, threatened to be a disappointment. The surprise is that considering the apparently ragged way they play, they get an awful lot of points.

In Spite of Handicaps
Louisville has faced big odds in football and basketball in climbing to a position of national importance. The cage teams have been heavily underrated or overlooked in national rankings.

Hickman, usually a cheerful fellow, shook his head mournfully over this year's crop. He moaned mightily low over the loss of two men—Ash Combs and Kenney Roberts. Hickman, however, he came up with a half-dozen replacements.

The present Cardinal quintet is strong where the teams of years past have been weak. Instead of having two scoring sparks, Hickman now has on his squad several who are capable replacements.

of exploding plenty of points. They're out to play winning basketball, and they could be the greatest in the school's history.

Then, there are Paul McHenry's Easterners. Although the Maroons are doing this year, what Louisville did last year—committing themselves to a gruelling schedule, and although they lost some extremely capable seniors through graduation, they should be back in the select group again.

Their bitter loss to North Carolina State—on North Carolina's home floor—was one of those moral victories. The Maroons lost by only one point, and North Carolina State is a top-notch outfit.

Mighty Western Kentucky has turned out to be the disappointment of the year. Cincinnati took the measure of Coach Ed Diddle's Hilltoppers, so did Morehead. Western on paper looks like a better team than Western has proved on the court. But from what falls around Bowling Green say, and people close to the inside of Western athletics, the 1950 version of the Hilltop really is a good outfit, and will prove itself yet.

Morehead, under the tutelage of the very capable Ellis Johnson, many insist, will be the dark horse of them all in 1950. There was that stunning defeat of Western, for one thing.

Then consider that Johnson lost one of his very ablest players, Sonny Allen, by graduation last year. To compensate for Sonny, he has two very fine stalwarts in Jack Baker and Corkey Kirtley. Baker and Kirtley seem to delight in fending for points.

Morehead is certainly one to watch.

Murray is another outfit slated to get some national recognition. Coach Hattie Hodges is a keenest recruiter, willing to take a crackpot little man for his squad if he can't get the giants. He makes basketball players out of them, too. Fittingly, Murray is booked, for the first time, for a game in Madison Square Garden.

In the Top Twenty
If the Murray school can make a good impression there—which means beating mighty Long Island University—well, Murray will have it made.

What does all this hold down to? The simple fact that Ohio Valley Conference basketball is a lot better, of higher quality, and, with one exception, its teams are infinitely superior to the Southeastern Conference. Then, add to the O.V.C., the University of Louisville, which is no longer a member of the loop. You have our state coming up with three or four teams which belong in the top 20 in the nation, at least two or three of them in the first ten.

Don't think Kentucky is going to get that kind of recognition, though. It isn't. There's nothing in sports, too. But, with-out exception, Kentucky teams are far above the national average.

More over—horses and gamblers make room for basketball!

Center of Life
Lessons for December 31, 1950

SCRIPTURE: John 18:1-18; Galatians 2:19-20
DEVOTIONAL READING: John 18:1-18

How does a Christian grow? During the past three months this "religious" and underlying theme. Now at the year's end we come back to the point where we began—to Jesus Christ. When all is said and done, the best way to describe a Christian's life is "religious" or "spiritual" or even "godly," much less "pious." The best way to describe it is to put the fullest possible meaning into the single word "CHRISTIAN."

"I Have Been Captured"
If your hymnal you may find a hymn by the author of the better-known "O Love that will not let me go." It begins with these lines:

"Make me a captive, Lord,
And then I'll sing of thee
That sounds upside-down. Captive and free are opposites, aren't they? Yet when God the captor! The American translation of Phil. 3:12 says: "I have been captured by Jesus Christ."

People who have gone far in music would understand this. Take two young people, both of whom know something about music, may be both of them in the same music school. One of them has been captured, so to speak, by music, the other has not. That is to say, if plainer language, music has "got hold" of one of them. There is an irresistible fascination about music, but his heart is not in it. We need no prophet to tell us which of the two will make a good musician. He it is with the Christian faith. One who has never been captured by Christ may play around with the Christian faith, as the unconverted music student may play around the music school; but his heart will not be in it.

Name any saint you like in the whole history of Christendom whether famous like St. Francis of Ballington Booth, or known only a few, like one of your own family perhaps; you always find that the person, whose Christianity was living and powerful thing, called Christ Master, and meant it.

"Christ Lives in Me"
THERE is a more intimate way of putting this. It is true, the Christian has been "captured" by Christ. But this would still leave him on the outside. Christ lives in the Christian, as Paul said. For some people this may seem strange and mystical, but it can be understood by any one who wants to know what Christian living means.

Christ in the Christian means that in every situation, in every condition, at every turn of the road, in the everyday choices and decisions, the Christian will be as much like Christ as he possibly can. This is one point on which Christians of every name and church agree. Catholic or Protestant, conservative or liberal, our differences except when our hearts are warm, when we try to think what the ideal Christian life is.

High-level Christians from all over Christendom would all come out with the same story that Paul put into classic words: I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me.

"Abide"
"ABIDE in me and I in you," said Jesus. That is a command and a promise. But the command comes first. Whether we think of the Christian as "in" Christ or Christ as "in" the Christian, it should be a long story, not a short one. It is the sunshine in the flower or the flower in the sunshine. Both put the flower in the sunshine and keep it there, and the sunshine will get into the flower. The sun makes the flower, not the flower the sun. Yet unless the flower stays in the sunshine, the sun can do nothing for it.

Christ never yet battered his way into any one's life. To know him as an occasional visitor is doubtless better than a never knowing him at all. But friendship is far better than acquaintance, and to know him best one must know him always.

But the welcoming heart has always for a guest. What 1881 will bring, no man can tell; but no friend of Christ will be afraid.

Mrs. and Miss. Wendie Hoagland have received word that their son, Allen, has been killed in Korea. Allen was a fine Christian boy. He was a member of Meadow Home Baptist Church. When called to service he was studying to be a missionary. Besides his parents he leaves one sister, Miss Joy Hoagland; other relatives and a host of friends to mourn his departure from here. Miss Faye Kaufman arrived home Friday night to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Kaufman.

Mrs. Rufus Hubbard called Sunday on Mrs. Neal Kaufman. Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Kaufman and Charles were supper guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Russell, and Mrs. Oda Farmer called Saturday night on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farmer. Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Farmer were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Kaufman and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Farmer, and Mrs. Oda Farmer. Mrs. Oda Farmer is spending several days this week with Mrs. Chester Farmer.

The Orville Fisher family is having its share of sickness. Little Mickey has had another convulsion. Maybe with God's help all will be well for them.

Mrs. Orville Fisher heard from her brother, J. T. Rogers. Their new baby has been named Cheryl Jeanne. Both mother and baby are doing fine. The mother will be remembered as Evelyn Musick.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Kaufman called Sunday night on Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kaufman. Dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kaufman were Mr. and Mrs. James Ellingsworth. Evening and supper guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scroggins, of Louisville, and Mrs. Mary Painter, of Georgia.

Mr. Everett Ellingsworth was brought home Friday from the Baptist Hospital. He is doing fine after having a stone from the kidney removed.

Briscoe Lane News

By Mrs. Charles Gostley

Well folks, the hustle and bustle of just before Christmas is over. We all prepared for the greatest holiday of all, "the birthday of our Savior." In these troubled days of all over the world, He is the one and only bright spot. Prayers and faith will carry us through.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bridgewater were delightfully entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kaufman on Sunday. Their son was home from the Navy and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Martin, of Georgia, were also entertained in the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bridgewater entertained with a dinner on Christmas Day for Mr. and Mrs. John Bland, Robbs Lane, and Mrs. Bridgewater's uncle, Mark Smyser.

Mr. and Mrs. Cass L. Timmins sons, T. J. and Cass L., visited with Mr. Timmins' mother and other brothers and sisters, of Louisville, Christmas Day. Their daughter, Peggy Jane, who is nursing in Lexington, will spend the new year holidays home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Reader spent Christmas Eve and Day in the country with Mrs. Reader's mother and other relatives.

Mrs. Charlotte Gostley's mother, Mrs. Marie Cook, from Vermont, came down to spend the holidays with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoadley S. Harding, who are living in Bowling Green temporarily, were home for the holidays. They were with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gostley and part time with his folks, the Hardings, of Louisville.

The Charles Gostleys entertained their girls and their families Christmas Day, but two, Mrs. M. D. Spencer and Mrs. Frank Frick and their families, couldn't come at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Gostley are enjoying a new television set at this time. Old Santa surely gets around.

I want to thank The Jeffersonian staff for the nice Christmas card and wish all the correspondents and the staff and the readers of The Jeffersonian a good, happy, healthy, and prosperous new year.

Old-Fashioned Dinner
An old-fashioned Kentucky Christmas dinner, complete with country ham and gardenia corsages was given Tuesday night by Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Yerkes. The guests included Messrs. and Mesdames E. R. Grinstead, Frank Smith, Douglas Young, Richard Schuba, and C. N. Robertson.

Greetings
One of the compensations of this life is found in the many friendships we make in our business contacts. And at this season of the year we are particularly grateful for these friendships. They contribute greatly to our year's round happiness and we hope that in some small measure we may have contributed some happiness to you as our paths have crossed. We are grateful for the measure of business which we have enjoyed this past year — and we hope that the coming year may find us worthy of your continued patronage and friendship.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Knapp Golden Wedding Sunday

On Sunday afternoon, December 31, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Knapp will hold open house at their home near Jeffersonton from 2 until 6 o'clock in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. A family dinner will precede the afternoon event.
Mr. and Mrs. Knapp are both life-long residents of this county and are well known here and have many friends throughout this area. Joseph Henry Knapp was born in Spencer County on January 3, 1874, the son of Becher and Betty (Whiteside) Knapp. Like his father before him, he has been a prominent farmer his entire lifetime. The past few years he has rented out most of his farm land. He still raises a few hogs and chickens, and keeps several cows.
His eyesight and hearing are fairly good, and he likes to read and listen to the radio—his favorite program.
Mr. Knapp has three brothers: Walter Knapp, Whiteside, Claude, Vine Grove, and Edward, Louisville. He has two sisters, Mrs. Florence Collins, Louisville, and Mrs. Leola Harris, Jeffersonton. He is a member of Church of Peter and Amanda (Whiteside) Knapp. Her father was also a farmer. On December 27, 1900 she was married to Joseph H. Knapp, the Rev. A. F. Gordon, pastor of Kings Baptist Church in Bullitt County near Whitfield, performing the ceremony at the home of the bride.
Mrs. Knapp is a member of Elk Creek Baptist Church. She is a great lover of flowers, an excellent cook and homemaker, and has always enjoyed working in her small garden. She has always enjoyed all kinds of sports and social activities, but her principal hobby has been crocheting, knitting, and needlework at which she is still very adept and some of her work has won prizes at the county fairs.
The Knapps have three children: Alfred, who resides on a farm near Jeffersonton; Carl, who is superintendent of the American Utilities in Cammell, Ind.; and Mrs. Robert (Evelyn) Durrett, of Jeffersonton. They have three grandchildren.
Mrs. Knapp has three brothers: Marcus Carlin, Louisville; William T. Carlin, postmaster at Buechel, who resides in Jeffersonton; Walter Carlin, Louisville; three sisters, Mrs. Arvilla Wheeler, Mrs. Lulu McMahon, and Mrs. Alberta Walker, all of Jeffersonton.
Mrs. Knapp is the fourth member of her family who has had the honor of celebrating a golden wedding anniversary, as three of her sisters celebrated 50 years of marriage during the past few years and this should establish some sort of a record and one of which to be proud.
Although the actual wedding date was December 27, the Knapps plan to hold open house on Sunday, December 31, in order to enable all members of their family to be in attendance.
With the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Knapp, we offer our sincere best wishes and congratulations to this fine couple of our community on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

Vets May Enroll In On-Farm Training Now
January 1, 1951 has been set as the next date on which new enrollees may be accepted in classes in Institutional On-Farm Training under the G.I. Bill. Veterans interested in enrolling in either of the two classes offered at Eastern High School may do so at this time. The two classes are offered under the supervision of the high school agriculture department.

this week in Louisville with her mother.

Mrs. Mary Holloway and Elizabeth were 6 o'clock dinner guests
Christmas Day of the Oldies Sisters in Shively. There were about 25 guests.

Feed Prices Advance Reflect Increased Demand

Feedstuff prices advanced to the highest level since the first of August, during the week ending December 19, according to reports to the Kentucky and U.
S. Departments of Agriculture.
Demand became quite active following the announcement of a national emergency as feed distributors and manufacturers replenished stocks and purchased supplies for later delivery. Current offerings were rapidly absorbed and the output of some feeds was reported sold through January. Wintery weather in important feeding areas contributed to the active demand.

Wheat millers advanced $1.50-2.25 per ton; soybean meal was up $4.40 and linseed meal $2-3. Corn feeds advanced 50 cents-$3 per ton but there was little change in the alfalfa meal market. Tankage and meat scraps advanced with other feeds.
Mixed dairy feeds were up $1-4 per ton and poultry feeds $2-3.50.

Experiment Station
Tests Minjon Apple

An apple variety called Min-jon, developed in Minnesota, has been producing attractive crops at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Trees four or five years old have produced over three bushels and younger trees nearly two bushels each.

A report of the station says Minjon trees grow well and bear well at an early age. The exact percentage of this apple is not known but it is thought to be a cross of Jonathan and Wealthy varieties. The apples are about the size of Jonathans and develop a deep, attractive, solid red color.

Several new apple varieties under test in the Experiment Station orchard appear promising, it is stated.

Farmers Holding To Land
But Few Foreclosures

More farms have changed hands by voluntary sale since 1940 than during any other 10-year period on record, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The annual rate from 1943 to 1947 was higher than in 1910, the World War I peak. However, the rate has declined steadily since 1940, and in 1949 it was more than a third below the 1945-46 peak.

Foreclosures and assignments rose sharply in 1922 and continued at a relatively high rate as late as 1940. Since then the rate of foreclosures, as well as tax sales, has been extremely low.

Voluntary sales accounted for 70 per cent of all farm transfers in 1949. The combined rate of transfers by all methods in both 1948 and 1949 was the lowest since records first became available in 1926.

My letter has not had much of Christmas in it. This year, for the first time, we will be without our girls. Sally and Jane are both in Europe; Sally in Munich and Jane in Vienna. Our Nancy is a sophomore in the College of the Sacred Heart, Grand Coteau, La. Though physically separated, we will be together in our thoughts and prayers.
To complete my Christmas letter, I am going to copy a message from a Christmas card, which I have just received from one of my very dearest friends. It is an excerpt from a letter written by Fra Giovanni in 1513, and I think it is beautiful.

Old Christmas Message
"I am your friend and my love for you goes deep. There is nothing I can give you which you have not got; but there is much, very much, that while I can not give it, you can take. No heaven can come to us unless our hearts find rest in today. Take Heaven! No peace lies in the future which is not hidden in this present little instant. Take peace."

"The gloom of the world is but a shadow. Behind it yet within our reach is joy. There is radiance and glory in the darkness."

could we but see—and to see we have only to look. I beseech you to look.
"Life is so generous a giver, but we, judging its gifts by their covering, cast them away as ugly or heavy or hard. Remove the covering and you will find beneath it a living splendour, woven of love, by wisdom, with power. Welcome it, grasp it, and you touch the angel's hand that brings it to you. Everything we call a trial, a sorrow, or a duty, believe me, that angel's hand is there; the gift is there, and the wonder of an overshadowing presence. Our joys, too; be not content with them as joys. They, too, conceal divine gifts."

"Life is so full of meaning and purpose, so full of beauty—beneath its covering—that you will find earth but cloaks your heaven. Courage then to claim it; that is all! But courage you have; and the knowledge that we are pilgrims together, wending through unknown country, home, here, at this time, I greet you."

Not quite as the world sends greetings, but with profound esteem and with the prayer that for you now and forever the day breaks, and the shadows flee away."

Sincerely, your friend of many years,
Durrett Oglesby Wilson

St. Paul's music department presented a Christmas program Sunday afternoon, December 17, in the St. Paul Recreation Hall. Students played solos on various instruments. Opening numbers were playing of favorite carols, "Silent Night" and "O Come All Ye Faithful." The closing number was a skit featuring Francis Murphy as Santa Claus. The musical was well attended.

Time Running Out To Start G.I. Bill Courses

Veterans of World War II planning G.I. Bill education and training were reminded today by the Veterans Administration that the July 25, 1951 deadline for starting courses is only seven months away. This coming spring school term will be the final such term most veterans may enter or re-enter before the deadline, V.A. said, adding that if they plan to enroll it's not too early to start making arrangements now. The 1951 deadline to most World War II veterans—those discharged from service before July 25, 1947. Those discharged after that date have four years from their discharge date in which to begin training.

Veterans affected by the deadline actually must have commenced their training by July 25, 1951, if they want to continue afterwards, V.A. said. A veteran must be in training on that date unless he has temporarily interrupted his course for summer vacation or for other reasons beyond his control. Once a veteran completes or discontinues his course of G.I. Bill training after the deadline, he may not start another course.
